

Pressrelease FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Dortmund, June 6th 2016

Go for victory with the European Football Championship Predictor app—powered by Windows Azure!

Available on Android, iOS and Windows devices, the predictor adventure, a new mobile sports game for Windows Azure based gaming platform tlive, has been passed iTunes certification just in time for UEFA European Football Championship!

The European Football Championship - the most exciting and glamorous football competition this summer - is about to start for the 2016 tournament. Can Sergio Ramos lead Spain to defend their title? Can Ronaldo snatch the cup for Portugal? Will this be the year Schweinsteiger, Müller and colleagues re-establish Germans 2014 World cup dominance or will Italy reawaken past glories?

The only thing as exciting as watching the European Football Championship is playing along with it and predicting the results with friends and proving you know the most about the competition, teams and players - Predictor for European Soccer Championship is the app that lets you do just that!

Fans in over 246 countries around the world can enjoy with this app the championship first hand and could be part of this big sport event this summer because just in time the iOS version passed the iTunes certification.
